Emergency temporary housing…

- The prefecture provides the residence based on the Disaster Relief Act in order to secure dwellings for disaster-stricken households who do not have residential houses due to having lost their homes in the Great East japan Earthquake.
- Under Disaster Relief Act, we have constructed and provided temporary (prefabricated) housing, but since the damage caused by the Great East Japan Great Earthquake was extensive, and many lost their residences in the affected municipalities, we have also provided “privately leased housing” through the prefecture as an alternative option. Existing housing resources such as public housing are also handled in the same way, to maximize their effective use.
